

One of the many advantages of an LMA is the ability for you to add a Thomson Reuters ProView eBook eLibrary.

THOMSON REUTERS PROVIEW eBooks

CONNECT ALL YOUR USERS TO eBooks IN YOUR LMA

Expand the reach of your print library by adding a Thomson Reuters ProView eBook eLibrary to your LMA. ProView eLibrary access makes it simple to connect your users to your library. Flexible access options allow your users to take advantage of the interactivity and professional functionality that sets ProView apart from other ereader platforms. Users can add annotations to their eBooks, search within a single eBook or across the entire ProView library, link to primary authority on Thomson Reuters Westlaw™, and more.

Law Firm Access Options:

Internet Protocol (IP) Authentication allows individuals across the organization, regardless of office location, to transparently authenticate to your ProView library via the browser without having to sign in. Your users have unlimited concurrent access to your ProView eBook library—there's no need to manage users or track copy counts.

Personalized OnePass Access allows users to sign into your ProView eLibrary with their OnePass credentials, enabling users to take notes, save queries, and create favorites. OnePass access also enables access to the eLibrary from outside the firm and allows users to download ebooks for offline access.

Government Access:

Government Enterprise Access allows for concurrent, unlimited access to your ProView eLibrary for your employees via OnePass login. Thomson Reuters will assist with setting up your users' access.
