5 Steps to Mitigating Money Laundering Risk

Money-laundering and other financial crimes continue to mushroom at an alarming rate. As the risks increase, more organizations are turning to Thomson Reuters CLEAR® to simplify analysis and monitoring. Here’s how CLEAR helps at every step in the customer lifecycle.

1. Confirm identity
   New account fraud is rampant as more applications are completed online. Verify a prospect’s provided information with credit header data, utility records, OFAC lists, FEIN, international records, work affiliations and more.

2. Measure global risks
   Is this prospect sanctioned or linked to an illicit network? Identify risks outside of the known players and see official sanctions and any connections to watch lists, regulatory enforcement lists, and politically exposed persons lists, with details.

3. Compare findings to your risk tolerance
   Complete a risk analysis in minutes with reports customized to your specific organization’s policies. Highlighted risk factors, such as criminal history, rise to the top for quick review.

Make your decision
Once you decide to take on the customer, continued vigilance is key.

4. Monitor transactions to ensure compliance
   Keep a close watch on customer activities to make sure they are complying with your rules. Get easy-to-filter updates quickly on thousands of people and companies and timely notifications of reported individual deaths.

5. Get alerts about potential issues
   The fact is, any customer can devolve to become a risk. CLEAR delivers up-to-the-minute, full due diligence reports that red flag criminal and court records, and any changes to business ownership, foreign assets, and more. Get alerts by email or via your next login.

“CLEAR’s information is the most up to date among all investigative databases.”

Investigator, Large Enterprise Financial Services Company

© 2019 Thomson Reuters

Thomson Reuters is not a consumer reporting agency and none of its services or the data contained therein constitute a ‘consumer report’ as such term is defined in the Federal Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA), 15 U.S.C. sec. 1681 et seq. The data provided to you may not be used as a factor in consumer debt collection decisioning, establishing a consumer’s eligibility for credit, insurance, employment, government benefits, or housing, or for any other purpose authorized under the FCRA. By accessing one of our services, you agree not to use the service or data for any purpose authorized under the FCRA or in relation to taking an adverse action relating to a consumer application.