

Fueling growth.

CoCounsel Legal with DeepJudge powers a unified litigation strategy, helping Freeman Mathis & Gary to rapidly expand.

Chosen by changemakers

Freeman Mathis & Gary is scaling with intention, adopting CoCounsel Legal with DeepJudge integrated, to ensure every attorney in every market can access and derive value from its vast institutional knowledge.

With growth comes challenges

In 2026, Freeman Mathis & Gary (FMG Law) climbed to 172 on the Am Law 200, one of the largest jumps on the list. That ascent reflects a deliberate expansion: deeper benches in key markets, strategic geographic moves, and acquisitions that strengthen the firm. But scale brings new demands. FMG Law must now deliver consistent, high-quality work across dozens of offices without diluting the institutional knowledge that made its attorneys successful in the first place — and that sets the firm apart.

FMG Law is a national litigation firm with more than 570 attorneys across 40 offices, 22 states and 46 jurisdictions spanning practice areas that include insurance, healthcare, construction, financial services, and the public sector. FMG Law goes beyond reactive, case-by-case defense with its connected litigation strategy that brings portfolio-level awareness, technology-enabled execution, and disciplined judgment to every matter.

Ben Mathis, FMG Law's Managing Partner and the visionary driving the firm's technology transformation, is a nationally recognized trial attorney who has represented clients from Fortune 50 companies to startups in high-profile lawsuits and litigation matters.

One unified platform

Thomson Reuters sits at the center of FMG Law's AI transformation. With CoCounsel Legal deployed firmwide in early 2026, and integrated with DeepJudge, the firm now has a unified experience that connects every office, attorney, and practice area to the same institutional knowledge and authoritative legal content. As the firm expands into new markets, that foundation goes, too, ensuring that growth doesn't come at the cost of consistency. Every attorney, wherever they work, benefits from the same, trusted foundation.

Fiduciary-Grade AI™ in action

CoCounsel Legal provides FMG Law with answers grounded in authoritative case law and Westlaw citations, transparent reasoning that attorneys can verify at every step, and a design built to support professional judgment rather than replace it.

FMG Law calls Thomson Reuters AI its “crystal ball,” predicting questions that may arise at depositions, hearings, and trials and preparing attorneys to handle them. The platform supports premier legal research, creates work product more efficiently, and provides best-in-class resources to their attorneys by combining these tools:

CoCounsel Legal

CoCounsel Legal uses advanced AI capabilities to help firms complete research, drafting, and document analysis with speed and precision. This is Fiduciary-Grade AI, with verified outputs grounded in authoritative content and customer context built directly into the architecture.

Westlaw Advantage

Westlaw Advantage, applying the power of agentic AI, provides the legal research capabilities of CoCounsel Legal. Westlaw legal research products have been the industry’s most used for more than 20 years, trusted by more than 48,000 law firms and legal departments, including 80% of the Am Law 100.

DeepJudge

DeepJudge integrates with CoCounsel Legal, letting attorneys find, analyze, and apply the firm’s internal knowledge alongside authoritative Thomson Reuters legal research. Together, they enable attorneys to put both firm expertise and authoritative legal content to work on every matter.

“To grow successfully, we have to give great service to our clients. We have to help them get results that make them happy. The CoCounsel Legal platform helps us get those better results.”

Context unified. Teams aligned. Growth accelerated.

How FMG Law's technology transformation is guiding litigation strategy nationwide and benefiting the firm, their attorneys, and their clients.

Boosting work quality and speed

For individual attorneys at FMG Law, Thomson Reuters technology has meaningfully raised the quality and pace of daily work. Associates can now get up to speed on unfamiliar practice areas faster, and partners can focus their attention on the high-judgment aspects of a case.

Creating a powerful return on investment

By combining DeepJudge's ability to find and apply FMG Law intellectual property with trusted Thomson Reuters legal data, the firm is now positioned to deliver an unmatched level of legal work. Their ability to serve clients consistently at national scale, backed by a common platform and shared institutional knowledge, is a direct contributor to their rapid growth.

Offering more certainty to clients

Clients stand to benefit from more thorough case analysis, earlier identification of exposure and risk patterns, and faster case assessments. Looking ahead, FMG Law expects clients to see more predictable legal costs, better-informed decisions on case strategy and settlement, and faster resolutions.

“Our firm has a one-office philosophy that’s really integral to who we are, and DeepJudge in CoCounsel Legal allows us to utilize that platform throughout the country.”
